Betty Grable Tops Salary List For U.S. Women

Washington, June 12.— Charles Skouras, US$810,-000 a year Greek born cinema magnate, was listed Sunday America's Treasury highest paid employee in 1947.

Betty Grable, with US$208,000, was best paid of her sex in a list of more than 1,000 people who drew more than US$75,000 in pay from corporations in 1947 or in the business and fiscal year ending in 1948.

It was the third consecutive year at the top for Skouras, although his compensation as President of the National 'Theatres' Amusement Company, Incorporated, and of Fox West Coast Agency Corporation was US$175,300 less than they paid him the year before. All the sums listed were be-

Big Four Meet In Secret Dockers to Go SURPRISE AFTER DEADLOCKED CONFERENCE

Vyshinsky Accused Of Talking Propaganda

Paris, June 12.—The conference of the "Big Four" Foreign Ministers tonight went into secret session for what observers believed was a move to reopen real discussion on a plan for a settlement of the differences over Berlin. The official explanation for tonight's secret session, which began after four and a quarter hours' open discussion, was that the Ministers were discussing the procedure of the next meeting.

But conference observers said that they were increasingly convinced that behind the inconclusive surface of today's open session, moves were afoot to achieve a live and let live settlement in Berlin.

At their secret session the Foreign Ministers were attended by only one adviser each and an authoritative American source described the session as "the most restricted of the conference."

The Soviet spokesman declared that no decision had been reached on the call made by Mr Andrei Vyshinsky, the Soviet Foreign Minister, for the drafting of a German peace treaty which would provide for the withdrawal of all occupation troops one year after its signature.

Congress Presses For Far East Policy Clarification

Washington, June 12. — Congressional pressure for "clarification" of the United States administration's overall Asiatic policy mounted this weekend in the wake of several significant developments on Far Eastern affairs.

linen, blankets and so on without having to hand over ration coupons. Yet there has been no rush to buy. Retail sales, according to official statistics, have not increased and traders are more anxious about keeping up sales than about obtaining supplies. A variety of explanations are offered for this state of affairs, but the most likely one is that it springs directly from the rigid economic policy which Britain has been following since the end of the war. "Austerity" is not a popular word, but the fact is that the policy was firmly applied and completely successful. The Government's . own . estimate .is .that domestic consumption of goods and services, after allowing for price changes, was almost exactly the same in 1948 as in 1947. For the current year it is expected to rise only by about 21/2 percent. So long as money was abundant, consumption of a large range of articles was controlled by rationing; and many other commodities were, in fact, rationed by various types of control or allocation schemes applied at the level of the manufacturer. Now the country has had over a year of deflationary finance. A huge budget surplus has been collected by Government. In direct and indirect taxes or duties the State has withdrawn from the income of persons and businesses several hundred million pounds more than It has put back in the form of Govern-?ment expenditure. What was left over has been used to extinguish public debt.

This drain on private finances lead at incomes has been made and large inroads have been made into capital, both by private individuals and by business firms. It was on this point of the financial squeeze that the Government decided to stage the "bonfire of ration books and controls". The timing was correct. The artificial restraint of paper forms has been safely replaced by the traditional restraint of money. In industry the removal of many allocation controls has been welcomed mainly for the lightening of paper work. The most recent killing of controls alone was estimated to do away with 1,000,000 forms a year. It has been possible to reduce clerical staffs, both in Government departments and in business firms. That is a substantial gain, but more important is the revival of flexibility in the industries concerned. Ever since the early part of the war-for nearly 10 years British industry has had to run along grooves firmly laid down for it. The controls tended inevitably to judge the rights and claims of each firm according to its performance before the war. And though this danger has long been recognised and the controllers have tried hard to release industry from the "1938. pattern", some rigidity has remained. In: many cases the firms in a particular line of business resist the allocation of scarce raw materials to newcomers so long as. they themselves are kept short, because they feel they could make efficient use of more materials themselves. This has been one of the most serious postwar problems of British industry, and it is by far the most important effect of the recent? decontrolling policy that if goes some way towards restoring industrial flexibility.

World Spending Espionage

MAGAZINE'S REVIEW

Lake Success, June 12 .- The "United Nations World," an independent publication, in an appraisal of world espionage, said today Russia was spending $110,000,000 a year on intelligence and counter-intelligence activities and employing 12,800 operatives.

It contrasted this with the United States expenditures of $80,000,000 and the United Kingdom's $56,000,000.

Soong's Visit To Paris

Soviet, Newspaper's. Speculation

Shanghal, June 13 .- The recent trip of Dr T. V. Soong, former . Chinese finance minister, from Hongkong to Paris, was not for the purpose of purchasing arms for the Nationalist Government or for the undertaking of any political negotiations, according to a report in the local Soviet newspaper New

His mission, the story said, was to find suitable residences in Europe for members of Chinn's four leading families the. Soongs, ... Kungs, ... Chlangs and Chens-and "their running"

Soong is alleged to have bought or leased about 100 villas in Southern France for himself and his brother-in-law, H. H. Kung, who is at present in the United States, and other "Second rate actors" such as Shanghai's ex-Mayor, K. C. Wu.

He is also reported to have bought or leased 25 eastles or villas in Barcelona, Spain,

The report alleged that Soong's present visit to the United States was to consult his elster, Madame Chiang Kaishek, and Dr. Kung, on how to invest their fortunes. It mentioned Arthbishop Paul Yu-pin, the leading Chinese Roman Catholic cleric, and the Chinese Ambassador Dr Wellington Koo, as the main agents of the four

Some of the money might be in South Africa's invested diamond industry, the story added.

So , far, nine members of China's "Big four" families have embraced the Roman Catholic religion through the efforts of Archbishop Paul Yupin, the story said.—Reuter.

BRUCE WOODCOCK IS

The Same Champion-But A New Man

By RONALD BOXALL

The bell rang out for the fourteenth round. Freddie Mills, the cruiserweight champion of the world, came out of his corner to make one last desperate attempt to connect with his lethal left hook and wrest the British, Empire and European heavyweight championships from Bruce Woodcock. Nearly fifty thousand people in London's White City Stadium held their breath.

Mills was so far behind on points that only a knock-out could swing the verdict his way-and he knew it. With all the courage that the British boxing public have come to know so well he tried to fight his way through Woodcock's unflinching defence. But he might as well have tried to cut his way through the Iron Curtain with a can-opener.

Boxing better than he has over done before, Woodcock kept him at arm's length with well-timed and delivered straight lefts. Mills went back-and Woodcock saw his chance. He measured his opponent with a left to the head. followed a split second later by a crashing right. Mills wilted, and as he sank

We have very great pleasure in stating that on the 128 Trolley Buses operated by us in Shanghai, we use' exclusively Dunlop Rubber tyrea. We use these tyres because we are satisfied with their performance f \ the mileages obtained from'them.

We have been operating Trolley Buses, since 1922, and therefore can claim some considerable experience in this field of operation. Moreover, and apart altogether from the efficiency of the Dunlop product, there is a courtesy which lies behind their service of which we have had considerable knowledge particularly on our return to the job after VJ Day when at our request. Dunlops jumped into action and put through an emergency order on tyres in record time which enabled is to continue our service.

Carelessness Costs Team 1,000 Points

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

THE winners of the Vanderbilt Cup tournament this year put on quite a show for the spectators. They were the high qualifying team, winning 11 out of 12 matches. They won the first knockout match by 3,000 points. In their second match they were behind 1,500 points at the halfway mark, and in the third match they were 1,700 points behind at the halfway mark.

Again, in the semi-finals, they had dropped behind 1,100 points nt the halfway mark. In the finals they were in the lead at the halfway mark, only to drop 1, Q-QKt3, any; 2, Q, R, or Kt her a heretic. Down the siste, behind 980 points in the third mates. quarter. Nevertheless they won the champlonship, and it is the final results that count.

I asked Harry J. Fishbein of New York City, a member of the wining team, how they happened to get behind in the third quarter of the finals. He said, "Mac, tell your readers that bridge experts are just ordinary people from every walk of life, and we make the same mistakes that everybody else makes. For example, let me show you a few badmistakes that I made on one hand."

"It was the first hand going into the third quarter," said Harry. "Mrs. Sobel in the South bld a diamond. I passed. Over North's spade bid Mrs Sobel bid two diamonds. Now I doubled. Of course my partner took this as a business double because had failed to double diamonds at the first opportunity.

"I opened the ace of hearts. My partner put on the king, and when Mrs Sobel put on a red card, I simply continued with another heart. But it so happened that Mrs: Sobel had trumped with a diamond, so with my six of hearts as an exposed card, she had no trouble at all in making an overtrick. Our side was cold for five hearts, so we lost close to 1,000 points on that

London, June 12.—Miss Ruth Fischer of New York, a sister of Communist Gerhard Eisler, stated here tonight that she could not understand the British treatment of her brother, whom she described as one of the most important and dangerous agents of the Soviet secret police and the Cominform.

Miss Fischer, for many years a leading German Communist and member of the Executive of the Comintern, has broken with Communism and is now one of its most active opponents. She has been attending the Labour Party Conference at Blackpool and is going to the Continent of Europe to collect information for a further volume of her book "Stalin and German Communism."

Rome, June 12. — The Communists served notice here today that they intend those issues into positive goals to make a major effort to block the ratification of the Atlantic Pact, due to be debated in the Italian Senate Ministers' conference could be a towards the end of this period of lessened tensions and month.

They declared that "actions even though the fundamental issues of Democracy versus for the defence of peace must be immediately intensified and greatly extended" and mised further details shortly of the questions for which no one in the White House or the State a final mass protest meeting in Department offers a certain Rome.

> Political observers regarded this as foreshadowing another stormy session in the Chamber, reminiscent of the debate on the proposed treaty last March when filibustering Communists and Socialists kept Parliament in an uproar for days.

ARTIFICIAL COMING TO KING'S AURORA Sydney, June 12,-A team of

New South Wales scientists soon will begin experiments during which they hope to produce an artificial aurora 60 miles above the earth in northern New South Weles. Professor V. A. Bailey, professor of experimental physics at Sydney University and who heads the team, believes they can produce an artificial aurora by shooting a beam of radio waves into the atmosphere 60 miles above the earth.

Balloy said the artificial aurora would appear similar to the moon but several times larger. If power of 1,000,000 kilowatts was available the aurora would be strong enough to light 5,000 square miles of country as clearly as full moon-

The Professor estimates it would cost at least A£250,000 to carry the experiments right through and produce a fairly strong glow but believes he can
